This graduate certificate prepares students to teach non-native speakers of English in the United States or abroad. Certificate courses fulfill, in part, requirements for an endorsement in English as a second language to the Virginia state teaching credential. Students who want to earn this endorsement should consult with an advisor.

The certificate may be pursued concurrently with any of several degree programs offered through the College of Education and Human Development (<http://catalog.gmu.edu/colleges-schools/education-human-development/>), the English Department (<http://catalog.gmu.edu/colleges-schools/humanities-social-sciences/english/>), and the Modern and Classical Languages Department (<http://catalog.gmu.edu/colleges-schools/humanities-social-sciences/modern-classical-languages/>). Part of the coursework toward the certificate may be applied toward degrees in those departments.

This certificate program qualifies for Title IV Federal Financial Aid.
